

Research project 2007/2008

---

Languages, Cultures and Communications

"Influence of the communication teacher-student upon the dedication of university students"

Coordinator MA Veronika Kareva

Advisor Prof. Dr. Ilse Schritteser

This team of EFL teachers will conduct a research on the above stated topic. The research population will be students of different nationalities and gender at South East European University Language Center. Students will be also from different departments of the University. Collected data from questionnaires will be statistically processed and the results will be published. To give the research a comparative momentum, the same research will be done with students at Vienna State University. Our aim is to create recommendations for good classroom communication practices for the teaching staff at SEEU and wider which will further influence student long-lasting commitment to University. This commitment on the other side will increase the number of students at the second and third cycle of studies and also have an effect on general student enrollment.